NEW AND INTERESTING INTRODUCTIONS

Our Research Department, headed by Dr. Walter E. Lammerts, is constantly introducing new items and improving the old, through research.

NEW AND EXCITING VARIETIES

• CEANOTHUS "MOUNTAIN HAZE"

A 1951 Introduction by Dr. Walter E. Lammerts that already is a "must" in most Pacific Coast Nurseries.

This fine showy evergreen plant being a "native son" is drought resistant—an important feature in the south these days. In growth it is naturally compact, holding its foliage clear to ground and can be used either as a garden specimen or easily controlled as a splendid hedge. The mass of blue flowers in the spring covers the plant from "head to toe" creating a misty or hazy appearance resulting in its varietal name "Mountain Haze".

• CEANOTHUS "SIERRA BLUE"

Another 1951 Introduction
by Dr. Walter E. Lammerts.

Here is a magnificent evergreen shrub and like its cousin "Mountain Haze" another "native son" and drought resistant. This variety grows into a fine specimen plant and will be widely used in background plantings. Its erect habit of growth is handsome throughout the year but in the spring the immense clusters of lilac type spires of electric blue flowers measure 6-8" in length transforming the plant into a blaze of unrivalled color.
